

RED LINE LOVE

► i live in north hollywood, california ► it's tuesday ► i have to work at 4:00 p.m. ► at 10:25 a.m. i get on the eastbound red line at chandler and lankershim ► i see a student sitting in the front of the car, he has a head full of surfer scruff hair and bright green headphones ► at 10:33 a.m. i get off at hollywood and highland, i hit planet funk and buy a free people tank for my little sis ►

► at 11:09 a.m. i get back on the eastbound red line ► a woman with luscious red hair and almond eyes is bouncing a toddler on her knee ► she gets off the metro at vermont and sunset ► at 11:31 a.m. i get off at union station ► i walk across north alameda and turn left on olvera st ► i enjoy 2 tacos for lunch ► i make my way over to north Broadway and pass under the chinatown arch ► at c&s housewares i buy 4 bowls for my kitchen and a bamboo steamer for my crazy cousin ►

► i walk back along north spring and wonder if shop attendants are speaking mandarin or cantonese or another dialect ► i wish i knew more about it ► at 1:34 p.m. i get on the westbound red line ► across from me is a handsome man with black pants and blue & white shoes ► he has a big warm smile ► at 2:04 p.m. i get off at my stop, north hollywood ► at 2:18 p.m. i'm back in my apartment gift wrapping the bamboo steamer ►
